The schools at Bagghalli & Jyothiswaram have been favorably reported upon, & the grants asked for are the small sums of Rs 16 & 13 respectively. These may be sanctioned, but no reappropriation from the Budget grants of the current year could be proposed, they should only take effect from the next year (1906/07)

The school at Tumkur seems to have improved as the result of the arrangements recently made. Non Christian students have not however yet been attracted to it. It is for their benefit that the scholarships of Rs 3 each have been applied for. The need for the offering of some such inducement was anticipated by me in my notes of 30/1/04 and 6/2/04. Sanction may be given accordingly subject however to the proviso mentioned above in regard to the two other schools

From Superintendent, Govt Industrial School, Mysore

To The Inspector General of Education in Mysore

Dated 20-8-1905
General R 97

With reference to docket R 696/43 dated 26-7-05 of the Inspector General of Education in Mysore, has the honour to report that the Industrial School Cuddapah, was inspected on 3rd and 4th instant

2 There were 41 pupils on the rolls - 36 of whom were learning Carpentry 3 blacksmiths work and 2 Masonry Of the 36 pupils in Carpentry, 21 were full time students and the remaining 15 were half time As the pupils were all Christian boarders fed and clothed free, they were not paid any scholarships Two in Standard C of Carpentry were, however, given a pocket allowance of Rs 2/- a month each and one in class B of Re 1/-

3 The workshop was on a good plan but the sheds were narrow and were found to be quite unsuited for efficient work. The new broad open shed proposed to be built with high compound walls on all sides will facilitate good work being done under proper supervision

4. Staff An instructor has been appointed since last inspection to teach drawing. There were, however, no instructors in Carpentry and the pupils were not benefitted as much as they could be by the systematic instruction of Mr. Stott for want of one to closely watch their work Mr. Stott had naturally a great deal to attend to and even his assistant was unable to devote his time fully to the pupils. A practical workman as an instructor guided by the valuable instructions of Mr. Stott to carefully supervise the work of pupils was a real necessity The pupils were all tested by being required to do a portion of the work they were doing The results were fair and showed that they had been carefully taught It was, however, clear that the works of the pupils would be free even from the minor defects noticeable had there been more instruction to see that pupils carefully worked as directed Fair progress had been made at the time of inspection - in drawing but the plan of instruction adopted by the instructor seemed to be defective

5 Finance As per return submitted to the department the total expenditure of the school for 1904-05 was Rs 19177--11 with a receipt of Rs 7780-10-8 inclusive of a grant of Rs 1855 from Government This includes the expenditure on the Bungalow that was being built for the Superintendent. Correct inference could not be drawn from this regarding the Commercial results of the school as the Government grant was from 1st July 04 to 30th June 1905 and the value of stock was from September 1903 to September 1904. The account books kept did not seem to admit of easily finding out the book balances at least for ascertaining the expenditure on materials and the receipts from the sale proceeds for the year 1904-05

6 Manual training class. About 50 students of the local high school had been induced by the kind intercession of the Head Master to attend the Manual training class, for about an hour a week. They were divided into three sections and each section attended the class a day. The instruction was highly interesting and simple to suit the capacity of pupils. It showed how far pupils of high schools are wanting in practical knowledge of the most elementary kind and how much manual instruction of the kind given in Sunkara would improve them. As Mr. Scott was able to attend to the pupils free from other calls and individually as there were only 14 students, they did their work satisfactorily even on the first day.

7 General - There was on the whole an improvement in the quality of work done in the School and there was greater life and energy. With the appointment of a few good instructors which Mr Stoll said he could do if aided with salary grants for them (a very reasonable demand) the School would turn out really good work The supply of tools, which had recently valuable additions, was good The improved and efficient condition of the School is due to the new Superintendent
